FAQ'S

Firmness Control® System FAQ’S

Q. Why does my Sleep Number® setting change?

A. Your SLEEP NUMBER® setting is based on the combination of body weight, volume of air in the air chambers, and firmness of the foam comfort layer. Several factors may contribute to fluctuations in your Sleep Number® setting:

- Temperature can cause changes in your Sleep Number® setting. For example, a heated mattress pad will cause the Sleep Number® setting to increase.
- Barometric pressure related to weather and altitude can change your Sleep Number® setting.
- Weight can affect your Sleep Number® setting. The Firmness Control® system acts similarly. More weight means a higher Sleep Number setting.
- Different sleep positions can affect your Sleep Number® setting. The higher the concentration of weight, the greater the chance the Sleep Number setting will be higher.
- Seasonal changes in body weight caused by dieting can also affect your Sleep Number setting, especially if you use your mattress year-round.

Q. What is the mattress looking at? What should I do?

A. Air loss can be caused by an unsecured hose connection, a defective air chamber or a failure of the Firmness Control™ system. If your air chambers are securely connected to the air chambers, if you did not find any damaged or loose connections, identify which of the following situations matches your situation and follow the instructions for remedying your issue.

NOTE: To avoid variations in your Sleep Number setting or level of comfort, make sure you are laying in your preferred sleep position when adjusting and checking your Sleep Number setting.

Q. If you have a dual air chamber bed and suspect only one (1) side of your SLEEP NUMBER® bed is getting softer:

- Make sure the power cord is securely plugged into the Firmness Control™ system and is not connected to a wall switch.
- Depending on the situation, instructive directions are as follows:
  - Switch the hoses on the air chambers so the left hose (marked with a white band) is attached to the right side of the bed, and the right hose is attached to the left side of the bed. You should hear a click when the hose is securely connected to the air chamber.
  - Fill the air chambers to the appropriate Sleep Number setting(s) for the person sleeping on each side of the bed.
  - Sleep on the bed and monitor the feel of the bed’s firmness on both sides.

Q. If neither chamber feels softer over time, you may have had a loose connection:

- Fill the air chambers to your normal SLEEP NUMBER® setting plus an additional 15 points into each air chamber.
- Locate the air chamber caps that came with your bed.*
- If the air chamber(s) become noticeably softer when capped, contact Customer Service.
- If leaks are noticed on both sides of the bed:
  - Pull the hose off of the air chamber(s) and fully reconnect each hose.
  - The air loss issue may have been due to environmental factors or a connection issue. Contact Customer Service.
  - The air loss issue may have been due to one of the following: a loose hose connection, internal damage, or damage to the hose.
